

THRIFT CAMPAIGN NOW INAUGURATED

Rock Island Will Participate in Nation Wide Movement in Behalf of Economy and Industry.

WILL LAST FOR SIX MONTHS

Plan Is to Show People How to Extend the Purchasing Power of Money Through Saving.

Quick to see the advantages to be gained through the application of the principles of economy and industry, the Rock Island local committee with E. H. Krell as supervisor, has arranged for this city to participate in the Nation-Wide Thrift campaign, which started today and will continue for the next six months.

The campaign in the interests of thrift is being put on under the auspices of the American Bankers' association and its object, in a word, is to show the business man, the professional man, the office man, the day laborer, the shop girl, in fact, every class of people in the community the real value of learning how to extend the purchasing power of a dollar through the inculcation of thrift.

The plan for the extended campaign of education which has been adopted is in reality in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the first savings bank. Through this special effort in order to achieve the best results for the community at large, it has been decided by the local committee to work through certain agencies, namely the press, the school, the church, the factory store and office, and the business man's office. Later on a fine five-reel moving picture is to be displayed at a theatre here, dealing in an interesting and practical way with the aims and purposes of the campaign.

The benefits which will result not only to the individual but to the community at large through practicing the principles advocated in this propaganda are so numerous that it would be quite an impossible task to enumerate them all.

Fosters Community Spirit. In the first place, a fine community spirit will be developed, which will make possible the ready advancement of every movement which has for its aim the betterment of Rock Island. It will imbue the minds of youths with high ideals and result in pointing out the necessity of a department in the public schools dealing with finance and how to conserve it and expend it to the best advantage; thereby better preparing the youth to go out into the world of fierce business competition.

Its Value to Allens. Through a thorough understanding of thrift and a strict adherence to it, the public will soon gain information about safe investments and will be able to detect them at once from get-rich-quick schemes. The banking power of the community will be increased, preparing the way for greater prosperity. The campaign seeks to show allens the essentials of American thrift and its unquestioned and vital relation to American citizenship. This will promote a greater degree of confidence in the foreigner's mind toward our financial institutions.

Money, as a matter of fact, is merely a medium of exchange, and the committee expects to show that thrift in buying as well as in using time to the best advantage will result in the people having more money to spend and in getting greater values for it.

Will Give Independence. For the individual, saving money creates a new hope and increases personal efficiency and it is a well known fact that the start toward a bank account has marked the turning point in many a career. Renters are enabled to make a start toward becoming the owners of their homes, and are given a spirit of independence and courage that is typically American. It is this spirit of initiative that has been largely responsible for the supremacy of this country and it is the hope of the committee that during the months to come that every citizen of Rock Island will seriously consider the value of thrift and contribute in the fullest possible way to the advancement of the campaign in its interest which has been started.

MISS HINRICHSSEN SEES SANATORIUM

Inspector for State Charities Commission Is Impressed with Local Tuberculosis Institution.

NONE FINER IN ALL THE STATE

Held Intensely Interesting Place Because So Much Has Been Done With So Little Money.

Miss Annie Hinrichsen, inspector of institutions for the state charities commission, paid a visit to the city sanatorium at Seventeenth and Brasher streets yesterday. She was enthusiastic over the new institution erected there and praised the local medical commission for the thorough manner in which the sanatorium is being planned and laid out.

Miss Hinrichsen stated that Rock Island was one of the first cities in Illinois to build a city sanatorium, others outside of Chicago being Rockford, Belleville and Jacksonville. At Rockford a new building has been erected. However, in many other cities, she said, the one-mill tax had been voted, but the actual work of building sanatoriums had not been started. Only two counties, Rock Island and Morgan, will vote on the county proposition this fall.

Ideally Located. "The Rock Island city sanatorium is one of the most modern in the state," said Miss Hinrichsen, "and it is most ideally located. Indeed, I know of no other institution with the facilities for fruit and vegetables and arrangements for cattle to furnish fresh milk that you have here. It is a most interesting place, because of the great things accomplished with so little money, and the care used in planning the institution."

Miss Hinrichsen is in Moline today, examining the police records there for criminal statistics. She expects to complete her work here tomorrow.

Black Hawk—"The Southerners;" "Otto, the Salesman."

AT THE COLUMBIA. Manager Blanchard is a happy man these days. His efforts to secure the Fung Choy company was successful. This act that he was after a long time is considered one of the greatest novelties of the day. The Chinese race is noted for its lack of singers, and when a bunch of them are gotten together to render operatic numbers one can imagine the long and tedious time spent on rehearsals. This troupe will render many of the classical numbers and besides will show talent by singing a few American songs. On the same bill from the showing made yesterday, and talking comedian, who should prove to be a whirlwind to Columbia audiences. This is Mr. Holtz's first engagement off the big time. Ward & Curran, two veterans in the show game, have an act called "The Terrible Judge," a vehicle that is especially fitted to show the talent of these two old favorites. Many laughs will be handed out. Taylor & Brown, a team of capable artists, who have played all the best theatres in the country, will be on tomorrow's new bill, offering their act, "Little Miss Forget It." George and Lilly Garden, xylophonists, will open the show with a swift program on their instruments. A big show is to be at the Columbia Sunday for four days. The headline will be "The Edge of the World," a fantastical offering.

ALEDO AT A GLANCE

Daily Doings in Mercer County's Busy Capital

Tabernacle Well Started.

The erection of the large tabernacle, to be used during the Newlin evangelistic meetings was begun yesterday upon the lots north of the United Presbyterian church and before the close of the day a credible showing had been made in the building work. Work upon the building did not begin until 8 o'clock, but the men moved swiftly after the commencement because of the object in view, that of completing the tabernacle in two days. From the showing made yesterday, it looks very much as though this feat will be accomplished. The framework was completed yesterday this being the most tedious part of the work, and a great share of the roof and siding boards were set in place. It is expected that by the close of today the edifice will have been practically completed. At the start of work yesterday the remaining roof and siding boards remained to be nailed in place, the roofing paper to be nailed upon it, the platform to be erected, and the seats to be installed. A number of the workmen were busy building seats yesterday. The ladies of the churches served dinner to about 35 of the workmen, the meal being served in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church. The ladies also served a 3 o'clock luncheon to the workmen during the afternoon. Today they will again serve dinner to the men. The tabernacle is to be 100 by 72 feet in dimensions. Seats to accommodate 1,800 are to be installed. Three doors leading into the front, one on the left side near the front and another on the right side near the rostrum. The structure is being erected even in a more stable manner than specifications call for, so that all will be perfectly safe to attend any and all meetings during the month.

Continuance Granted Sapp. L. H. Hanna, attorney for Bert Sapp, indicted for murder, appeared before Judge Church in circuit court here yesterday. Attorney Hanna first filed a motion to quash the indictment, but this was denied by the court. There was no discussion of this motion. Following this denial a motion asking a continuance of trial until the December term of court was filed, and this was granted.

It is probable now that no petit jury will be impaneled during the present term, as the lawyers interested in trial cases are not making their appearance on account of campaign duties.

Advisory Pamphlet. County Agent L. F. Gillmore has just issued a pamphlet on the subject of seed corn, a copy of which he is sending to each member of the Mercer County Crop Improvement association. This is a treatise on seed corn, the picking of the same and the proper time to pick the same. The object is to induce the farmers to pick their seed corn now in order to avoid frost, which if it comes before the seed is picked will kill the germinating substance of the grains. Several illustrations showing the proper method of tying and hanging corn for seed are contained in the pamphlet.

Stock Shipments.

Another special stock train came through on the C. B. & Q. yesterday. Besides a number of cars of stock which it picked up at points west five car loads were added to the train here. The shippers yesterday were: G. W. Reed, one car hogs; G. W. Allison, one car cattle; Ed Lowe, two cars cattle; George Biesline, one car cattle.
